Rumania's Recovery.

The Ruranians, with increasing Russian assistance, appear to be making a notable recovery on the Transylvanian front. The latest communiqués from Bukharest and Petrograd report an effective stand in some of the passes, and advance—in others. Earlier movements of General von Falkenhapi's forces suggested that the purpose of this operations was two-fold. One of his objects was to strike at the point of junction between the Rumanian right wing and the left wing of the main Russian and Armies in the Bukovina and Galicia, and to reach the railway through Northern Rumania which provided lateral communication between them. This design, we may now assert with some confidence, has been completely baffled. General von Falkenhapi's forces have been thromy back in all the passes which lead through the Carpathinas into Northern Rumania, or Maldavia. They have just delivered a new attack in the appearance of possessing an easentially defensive character, and of being designed to prevent the development of a Russer Rumanian confidence from the project of the spint of the Carpathians into Northern Rumanian frontier; but this operation has all the days desired to prevent the development of a Russer Rumanian confidence from the project of the spint of the content of the co

I Last night's communiqué:

To the south of the Somme, after a violent bombardment, the Germans, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, attacked our positions to the north and south of La Maisonnette, using liquid fire. Our barrage fire and our machine gun fire broke up all attempts of the enemy, and threw him back into the trenches from which the attack was launched.

To the north of Verduz artillery fighting continued to be very lively in the Haudromont-Douaumont sector. There was no infantry action.

The day was quiet on the rest of the fire of the day and quay was completely washed away, and the stonework and masonry was driven out of place and carried on to the roadway. Huge quantities of timber and merchandise stored on the interchange is unchanged.

Northern and North-Western Fronts.—At Tolgyes and Bicaz there was artillery broke up all attempts of the enemy, and the district. The destruction of the railway lines and quays, and the damage to shipping is very considerable. Owing to the entrances to the different railway stations being flooded and to the inundated state of the lines the traffic was seriously interrupted.

In the Prahova Valley we checked, by our barrage, attacks of the enemy who was front to the fire of the pounds and in the battlefield.

At Orsova the situation is unchanged.

On the southern fronts of the Davube and in the Dobrudia there is no change.

In the Prahova Vallev we checked, by our barrage, attacks of the enemy who was advancing by Clabucetul-Bainlin.

South of Azuga we occupied Mount Ugheiman in the Dragoslavelle region. We repulsed enemy attacks directed against our centre and right wing. On our left wing we made progress.

East of the Ait Valley the enemy is attacking with considerable force. Fighting continues.

In the Jiul Valley our troops are continuing their offensive and pursuing the enemy, who is retreating into the mountains.

We have taken prisoners ten more officers and 250 men, all Bavarians.

Reserve Lieutenant Raprasceni, with the unit under his command, captured two 105 millimetre batteries of the 21st Bavarian Artillery Regiment, and the guns were immediately put into action against the enemy, and did much useful work for us. We also captured four machine guns and many limbers.

In the Orsova region, after violent bombardment, the enemy attacked us near Varjik and Cocasujui, but was repulsed.

On the southern front the situations remains unchanged.

dny's British communiqué from

On October 26, during local skirmishes favourable to our troops, we captured several enemy trenches. We took three Bulgarian officers and 70 rank-and-file and one machine gun. On October 27 we advanced a little on the left bank of the Cerna River. Rain is hindering our operations.

On the 27th we were engaged in several local fights. We advanced in some places and repulsed enemy counter-attacks. We captured some machine guns and several dozen prisoners.

Last night's Serbian communiqué:

On October 28th fighting of moderate intensity was favourable for us on the whole front. Our troops captured some enemy trenches and one trench gun. We have also taken some fresh prisoners.

It leaned the sea into fury, and even to water the breakers washed over Wexford quays. At the fort the sea swept over the beach, inundating the pilot-hours and the homes of the lifetoeat men, while at Rosslare Strand and other places along the ceast the sea encroached past the Burrow and on to the public road, rendering pedegtrian and vehicular traffic impossible. In the bay small boats were dashed to pieces, and the sides of schooners and steamers were stove in, while in many cases the rigging of ships was carried away. The Wexford tug was a heavy sufferer, the paddle boxes being smashed against the quay, and the schooner Edith May had her side ripped open. Owing to the high tide the quays were inundated to a depth of four feet, and in low-lying places to even a greater depth. The streets leading to the quays were successed to the season of looded, and even in Main street the Sunday.

The Entente diplomacy is now observing the utimost secrecy regarding the situation, which, however, is described as having entered on a phase favourable to the King, M. Venezelos, and the Entente.

Sir Francis Elliot, British Minister, was received by the King yesterday, and M. Guillemin, French Minister, had an audience of His Majosty to-day, but nothing has transpired regarding the subject of these interviews.

The President of the Piraeus Municipality and the Town Council visited Admiral du Fournet yesterday, and were received with honours. The Admiral will return the visit to-morrow, and a fitting reception is being prepared for him.

circles of the Provisional Government.

M. Venezelos, accompanied by General Daglis, to-day visited the camps of the Army of National Defence, and was enthusiastically received with crice of "Long live Venezelos," "Long live Down with Bulgaria." "Long live the war," "Down with Bulgaria." The troops, after liming up, were reviewed by M. Venezelos, who delivered the following speech:—Soldiers, I thank you for my reception, and also for your patriotism and promptness in replying to the appeal from the fatherland in the hour of danger, by spontaneously joining the Army of National Defence. I am hopeful that your noble action and your enthusiasm will be shared by the whole of Greece, in order that the struggle may be undertaken by the whole Hellenic people against our hereditary eaking last night at Sligo, Mr. Redmond described the late upheaval in Ireland as the result of a wave of passion, which would have been natural in the same circumstances for a people more cold-blooded than the Irish.

Temedies for the present situation, and as the price of co-operation with the Government, be demanded the abolition of so political prisoners.

It this was not enough. There was needed a great act of understanding and statesmanship. By this he indicated the putting of Home Rule into immediate operation. If this were done he declared that it would be of more value in the winning of the war than the results of the present

A Times Wellington telegram says:—
The Government announces that voluntary recruiting for reinforcements ceases on November II. A balleg will then be taken to supply, by compulsory service, any shortage there may be. Similar procedure will be adopted for future reinforcements. GREEK TRANSPORT

TORPEDOED.

Mr. Renwick, the Daily Chronicle Special Correspondent at Athens, telegraphing last night, says:—The Greek steamship Angeliki, with 150 National Volunteers for Salomika, was torpedoed last night by a German submarine. Pifty are reported missing. The news was announced at a reception on the occasion of the return visit of the French Admiral to the Mayor and Corporation of the Piracus, and was received with loud cries of "Down with Germany."

THE CHANNEL INCIDENT. SALONIKA, FRIDAY.

The National Triumvirate has telegraphed to the Governor of Chics expressing sympathy with the families who suffered by the recent bombarding of the island by a German aeroplane, and sending a donation of two thousand franca, besides instructing the Governor to afford all necessary relief.

Yesterday there arrived from the Piraus a further contingent of soldiers, sailors, and officers to join the National Army.
On landing at Salonika they were greeted with loud cheers by the crowd. While passing a hotel on the quay where M. Venezelos happened to be, the troops warmly cheered their great leader, who appeared on the balcony and delivered a short speech of thanks. He said—"Although Greece has been brought to the brink of a precipic we will save her, thanks to the assistance of the people." His words were loudly cheered, Several hundred recruits from highland clear in a stream that nothing could be made. The propose of the Provisional Government.

Behind

Scenes. A minute to eight—the hustle and bustle in the great kitchen increases—the master chef adds the final touch of enticing flavour to the soup which made his reputation—and announces the first course

In the Dining Room the guests are settling comfortably for the ment—at this house they have learnt to expect much—and they are never disappointed.

"How absolutely topping!" exclaims Lord — at 8-6, after he has told the very latest from the trenches—"Why the deuce can't my chef turn out something like this?" If his Lordship only knew it he could have the same enticing flavour regularly—and not only in his soup, but with any or all of his fish and meat courses—two simple words to his chef would make all the difference-

Just a few drops of "The Most Delicious Sauce in the World"— Yorkshire Relish—will make all the difference between an ordinary dish, and one of delicious testiness. This exquisite Sauce is delightful with almost every kind of ment, sish or fowl, hot or cold. It is neither thick nor watery—but Just the right consistency to ensure a correct flavour under all conditions. Ask your Grocer for a bottle of Yoskshire Relish to-day-and add a wenderful flavour to every dish you prepare.
